Front End Web Developer

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am a Middle Term Student at APEC University, who is passionate about Front End Web Development and who also has experience and passion for the development of responsive web apps mainly for SAAS products. My main commitment is always to create memorable user experiences through design and creativity.

In addition to my studies, I have been dedicated to web development for a long time, first as a hobbyist and now as a freelancer. As a result, I have a solid understanding of the major web development programming languages and related software, as well as HTML5 coding. On my personal website I have increased code responsiveness across browsers by 30%. Recently, I have tried the applications and programs for smartphones. In general, I've had experience developing web pages, coding databases, and troubleshooting web applications.

The purpose of this email is to let you know that I am looking for new work challenges. In this sense, I prioritize joining a project with which I feel identified and in which I can contribute all my potential and desire to improve the world. I am writing to you today because your company is one of those projects that I am looking for, since:

- I am enthusiastic about your services and your business company.
- I am a very empathetic and friendly person, who does his job and is very helpful with everyone.
- I have great objectives and goals to achieve and I know that with you I will achieve it.
- I am looking for a challenge that demands more of me than my current position as a student, and I am convinced that your company will be.

I would like to have a chat with you, and besides, I am looking forward to meeting you. Do not hesitate to contact me at any time through my email or my phone number, and be considered for positions that are currently open or that will open in the future.

Without further delay and with a big hug, I say goodbye.

Sincerely,

Dariel Alejandro Tejeda Jiménez
